From the Editor of Publications

We are pleased to announce the first issue of the International Journal of New Medicine (IJNM). As the Editor of Publications, it is a great pleasure to present to you our journal, which is devoted to promoting medical research breakthroughs in the field of therapeutic studies. IJNM will publish twice a year as an open access (OA) journal (Ashraf and Iqbal, 2019; Iqbal, 2022; Kandi, 2022).

IJNM seeks to give academics, researchers, and practitioners a forum to exchange their creative concepts, findings, and perceptions in the multidisciplinary field of medicine. IJNM will also focus on clinically relevant biomedical research and other issues that are essential to providing patients with the best possible care, preventing disease, and promoting public health. We work to maintain the highest levels of academic excellence through stringent peer-review processes, making sure that every publication makes a substantial contribution to the body of knowledge in this crucial field.

IJNM's editorial policy will be directed by the highest standards of professional responsibility, ethical legacy, and scientific excellence and integrity. IJNM employs a double-blind peer review process. This ensures an ethical and responsible workplace by reducing the likelihood of a biased opinion.

We want to express our sincere gratitude to all of the authors, reviewers, and editorial board members who have given their time, knowledge, and commitment to help us reach this significant milestone. Your dedication and support have been crucial in determining IJNM's development and making it a preeminent journal in the area.

We invite you to read the first issue of the International Journal of New Medicine (IJNM) and interact with the innovative research it offers.

I appreciate your support and confidence. Indeed, it is truly an honor to be one of the founding editors.
